THE NATIONAL CONGRESS.

THE SENATE TAKES UP THE TARIFF BILL.

Mr. Struble, of Iowa, Goes for Speaker Reed with Gloves Off.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—In the Senate this morning, Mr. Sherman offered a resolution for the daily meeting of the Senate at 10 a. m. The resolution went over until to-morrow.

The tariff bill having been taken up, several amendments were voted down by a strict party vote.

Mr. Jones, of Arkansas, addressed the Senate in opposition to the bill.

Referring to the farmers' alliances, he declared that that man read the signs of the times amiss who believed that the old policy was to continue much longer. He firmly believed that the present "period of protection had gone mad," and would inaugurate a movement that would, in its efforts and consequences, surpass all previous upheavals of the kind. The protective system would be crushed and cast out as an utter abomination.

Mr. Aldrich said that the efforts of the Democrats to draw the Republicans into making stump speeches was directed to the delay of the passage of the bill.

Mr. Gorman spoke of the warning of Mr. Blaine to the Republican party that the pending bill would destroy the possibility of increasing trade with countries south of us and would bankrupt the treasury within eighteen months.

Mr. Hiseock, replying to Mr. Gorman, made a long speech in criticism of the Democratic party.

Mr. Voorhees replied to Mr. Hiseock. Mr. Reagan criticised Mr. Hiseock for some allusion to the Southern States and said that none of his distinguished predecessors would have been guilty of the remarks in criticism of the South which he had made.

The Senate passed the House joint resolution to extend the current appropriations of the government to August 14th, and after a brief executive session at 6:30 adjourned till 11 o'clock to-morrow.

House.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—In speaking to one of the Senate amendments to the sundry civil bill this afternoon in the House Mr. Struble, of Iowa, made a bitter attack upon Speaker Reed for his action toward gentlemen having interest in public building bills. He contrasted the courteous manner of Speaker Carlisle toward all gentlemen requesting recognition with the almost sneering manner in which the present speaker treated such requests. The speaker treated the members as though they were boys. He did not propose to stand this sort of treatment any longer without protest. Should the members, he asked, continue to submit longer, like cowards, to the dictations of the speaker? Should they not rather combine together in an honest attempt to have recognition? He was for rebellion against the rulings of the speaker in regard to public buildings bill.

Mr. Struble's remarks were applauded by the Democrats.

Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, Mr. Peters, of Kansas, and Mr. Cogswell, of Massachusetts, defended the speaker.

The House disposed of all the Senate amendments except that relating to irrigation, on which it was agreed there should be four hours debate to-morrow.

The House passed a joint resolution extending current appropriations to August 14, and at 4:40 adjourned.

PROBABLE ANNEXATION.

Hayti or Saint Domingo May Possibly Become a Part of the United States.

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Times Portland, Me., special says that a gentleman formerly prominent in two Republican administrations and who is now at Bar Harbor, intimates that the United States is likely to annex Hayti or Saint Domingo, and that Mr. Blaine's views on sugar duties have a bearing on this point.

A dominion statesman recently paid a hurried visit to Mr. Blaine. Minister Douglass' return from Hayti may have some connection with the matter.

BRAZILIAN TROUBLES.

The Insurrection Has Been Completely Subdued.

[By United Press.]

LONDON, July 29.—The Argentine legation has received the following: "BUENOS AYRES, Monday, 2:20 p. m.—Announce that the insurrection has been completely subdued. The president of the republic and the national assembly are giving orders from the national government house. The finance minister has been set at liberty."

(Signed) "JUAN GARCIA." Garcia is the prime minister of the Argentine Republic.

INCENDIARY FIRE.

Other and Three Children Burned to Death.

[By United Press.]

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 29.—Incendiarists set fire to the residence of Rev. David Plumb, at Cole's, Ind., a short distance across the river from here, at an early hour this morning. Mrs. Plumb and three children were burned to death, and Mr. Plumb was so badly burned that he cannot live.

A Congress of Labor—A Commission of Nine Asked For.

[By United Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Mr. Farquhar, of New York, introduced in the House today a bill to create the United States Commission of the World's Congress of Labor, of nine members, who shall make a tour of the world for the purpose of promoting a congress of States a congress of labor.

THE EDITORS AT MOREHEAD.

They are Having a Delightful Time—Resolution of Thanks.

[Editorial Correspondence.]

MOREHEAD, N. C., July 28.—Forty-two editors made up the party of congenial spirits who captured the Atlantic Hotel Saturday night, and who have since been enjoying all the pleasures of the sea-side. A congenial and a genial party, they have taken in every pleasure and enjoyed bathing and boating and fishing to the fullest extent.

Resolutions of Thanks.

At a meeting of members of the North Carolina Press Association held on Monday afternoon, July 28th, in the Atlantic Hotel, Morehead City, Mr. J. P. Caldwell, President of the Association in the chair, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Press Association of North Carolina do, with most heartfelt sincerity hereby tender to Mr. Julian S. Carr their thanks for the delicate courtesies and exhaustless kindness of which the Association, collectively and individually, have been the recipients, enfolded them in Durham with the solicitude of generous and all providing hospitality accompanying every step, anticipating every wish, and investing every incident of the late meeting of the Association at Durham with the charm of a personal kindness, which embraced every member of the Association in the delicate flattery of its attention and conveying to the mind of each one the impression of a man worthily and unostentatiously using the gifts of well earned and well deserved fortune for the public good in its wisest and most expansive aims, not the least of which is involved in the recognition of the power and influence of the press, directed to its proper aims. And the members of the Association further recognize the provident hand and kindly care of Mr. Carr in anticipation for them the elegant and bountiful hospitalities of the Atlantic Hotel Company at Morehead City, of which company he is president, giving the members of the Association opportunity to learn by personal observation that the sagacity, enterprise and liberality so usefully and conspicuously illustrated by Mr. Carr in the history of his connection with the city of Durham, has additional illustration in the perfection and magnificence of a watering place, become under his auspices, one of the most renowned on the Atlantic Coast.

Resolved, That the thanks of the association be most cordially tendered to Dr. G. W. Blackwell, whose name is so inseparably and pleasantly associated with the fame, fortunes and pleasures of the Atlantic Hotel, and who, on this occasion, has renewed with cordial earnestness his devotion to the editorial fraternity, of which he has long been an ardent, sincere and useful friend.

Resolved, That the thanks of the association be tendered to Foster Brothers, the managers of the Atlantic Hotel, to whom the association is indebted for so much attention, comfort and luxury during its stay with them. And the association takes the occasion to testify to the perfection of a management which has deservedly won a widely diffused fame. And in this connection the association would express their gratified sense of the care and solicitude for the comfort of its members by the clerks, Messrs. Campbell and Branch, and by all other employees of the hotel.

Resolved, That our most especial acknowledgments are due to the masters of the swift and beautiful "sharps," who with their picturesque fleet "walking" the water like things of life, have thrown a halo of poetry around our life of prose, and made a skim over the water under their skillful pilotage a memory to cling with unfading tenacity through all the future journey of life on the more prosaic terra firma.

STEAMERS COLLIDE.

An Excursion Steamer Collides with a Bay Line Steamer and a Scene of Horror Ensues.

[By United Press.]

BALTIMORE, July 29.—A crowded excursion steamer, the Lowie, returning from Tolchester beach with 1,400 souls on board last night, crashed into the Bay Line steamer, Virginia, bound for Norfolk, at Fort Carroll. In an instant merriment was changed to horror, and shouts filled the air, children were trampled under foot, strong men rudely pushed aside weak women, all in an insane endeavor to get away from danger. Three persons were almost instantly killed, and a number were badly injured and ten persons are still missing.

It is now believed that those reported as missing jumped over board and were drowned.

The Years' Revenue Receipts.

[By United Press.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—The preliminary annual report of internal revenue commissioner Mason shows the total collections for the past fiscal year ending June 30, 1890, aggregated in round numbers, one hundred and forty-two and a half millions against one hundred and thirty-one millions during the preceding year. Revenue receipts from distilled spirits during the past year aggregated nearly eighty-two millions, against nearly seventy-five millions during the preceding year. Receipts from tobacco taxes amount to thirty-four millions, against about thirty-two millions during the preceding year.

Marriage.

[Special to STATE CHRONICLE.]

OXFORD, N. C., July 29.—Married at the residence of Mr. W. R. Smith at 2:30 o'clock p. m., Mr. T. Norman Burwell, of Oxford, to Miss Mary Alice Travis, of Halifax. Rev. W. L. Mellichamp officiated. The happy bridal party left on the North bound Atlantic Coast Line train. They will be at home in Oxford, N. C., after August 16.

NO HOPE FOR BROWER.

Forsyth County Falling Into Democratic Hands—Speaker Webster Causes a Little Sensation—Fatal Accident, &c.

[Col. of STATE CHRONICLE.]

WINSTON, N. C., July 29.—According to announcement, the little Ozar Brower started down here yesterday from Mt. Airy to straighten out his political chances in the county and quell the rebellion in the camp; but a washout on the C. E. & V. V. railroad, near Arrarat river, prevented him from making his appearance. He is expected here today.

A prominent Republican informed your correspondent yesterday that there were no hopes for Brower in this end of the district. He said that Stokes county would pile up enough against him to overcome any majority he might make, but there is little probability of his having a majority in any county. This same Republican said that Brower "may as well try to dam up the Nile with bull-rushes" as to try to whip into line the "kickers" of Forsyth.

It now looks as if there will be a great Democratic county victory in Forsyth this year. The people have not yet selected their men but there have been several mentioned for the General Assembly. The friends of that high toned gentleman, Capt. R. B. Glenn, are trying to push him for the Senate, while many would love to see Mr. H. K. Fries sent back to the House. These men could both be elected and the people want them.

Very nearly all the wheat and oat crop of the Piedmont section has been thrashed and it appears that after all it is only a half of a crop. The farmers are very much disappointed in the yield, yet the good crop of tobacco and corn will not allow them to grumble.

Two of our most eminent physicians, Drs. Henry T. Bahnsen and Chas. L. Summers have become associated together in their practice here. It is a strong team of good men.

The readers of the CHRONICLE will remember that Capt. S. E. Allen, formerly of Wake county, lost his entire stock of hardware by fire here last Thursday. He then started over the country in the rain to inform his family who are summering at Piedmont Springs, when he narrowly escaped being drowned. His horse and buggy were both lost in a swollen creek. The Captain declares that he has abandoned the idea that every man lives for himself, for by the help of friends he will be enabled to start up again.

Jno. R. Webster, of Reidsville, is well known hereabouts. He has many friends and bitter enemies in Winston-Salem. When the news reached here yesterday that he would again run for a seat in the General Assembly, it caused quite a commotion. Many expected him to run for Congress since his name was not nominated by the convention, but he had too much sense to try any such caper.

A sad accident occurred here Saturday night which had a fatal termination Sunday evening. In the suburbs of Winston there were two little darkies, Sonny Wall and Manuel Nelson, aged respectively 15 and 12 years, who were fooling with two old shot guns. The gun in Wall's hands went off, the bullet lodging in little Nelson's back and causing an awful wound of which he died Sunday night at eleven o'clock.

There is much interest manifested here over the Northern terminus of the Roanoke and Southern railroad. Roanoke City people have become so independent that they have scared the authorities out of the city. They cannot get the right-of-way into it and it seems that the line will be materially changed. A committee of gentlemen from Salem, Va., met a committee of the road here yesterday and made a proposition for them to locate the Northern terminus at that place. They are very open in their offers and it is feared that Roanoke will get left.

Brooklyn's Population.

[By United Press.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 29.—The rough count of the population of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been completed by the census office. It shows that the population is 804,387, an increase since 1880 of 237,714 or 41.95 per cent.

While we are Almost Flooded Kansas is Drying up.

[By United Press.]

ATCHISON, Kan., July 29.—Reports from Rocks county are to the effect that nearly everything in that section is burned up by the drought and that there is great fear a prairie fire will sweep the country.

A Condition, not a Theory.

[Elmira Gazette.]

"It is a condition, not a theory which confronts us," said Grover Cleveland. It is a condition which confronts the present administration, but the difference in the conditions is the difference between a mountain and a hole in the ground. One year from a surplus to a deficit.

A GRAVE CHARGE.

An Investigation Asked for in the House of Representatives.

[By United Press.]

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Mr. Oates, of Alabama, offered in the House today a resolution reciting the charge made by the Farmers' Alliance that millions had been spent in lobbying the Silver bill through Congress, and calling for an investigation. The resolution was withdrawn temporarily.

HARMONY IS BROKEN.

J. B. EAVES AND LOGAN HARRIS DO SOME TALKING—THEY FIGHT.

[Col. of STATE CHRONICLE.]

White Winged Peace Stands Aloof from the Republican Cause—The Fight is the Excitement of the Day.

There is disaffection and disintegration in the Republican brotherhood.

The leaders have disagreed—have talked "cuss" words—have fought—bled a little, and White Winged Peace and gentle Harmony have withdrawn from the camp, and is now standing aloof in a dubious manner.

The exciting event in this city yesterday was a fight—a regular pounding and scratching "set-too"—between J. B. Eaves, Chairman of the Republican State executive committee, and J. C. L. Harris, secretary of the same body.

The CHRONICLE sought to get at the full particulars of the trouble, and the search developed the following facts:

On last Monday Secretary Harris' breath was almost taken away by a message from Chairman Eaves to the effect that the State executive committee had been called to meet in Raleigh Wednesday, July 30th, and that he (Eaves) would be here on Tuesday.

Yesterday he arrived in the city and spent the greater part of the morning walking about and looking around.

Harris was engaged during the day in some legal cases which were being heard before U. S. Commissioner Purnell. Mr. Purnell's office is on the second floor of the building at the corner of Fayetteville and Martin streets. A balcony runs the entire length of the second floor, and the office opens onto this balcony.

During his morning rambles, Eaves went up to this office. The cases were being tried and Harris was there. Eaves stood around and lolled about on the balcony smoking a fine flavored cigar, apparently well satisfied with the way everything was working. Presently Harris stepped out of the office and there was a greeting and hand shaking that indicated a very friendly feeling on both sides. But Harris appeared a little restless and nervous. He was feeling that something hadn't gone right—wasn't working right. He looked as though he wanted to be friendly, but he was uneasy, and then there were evidences to show that he was loath to proceed to the only measures that would give him relief.

The two leaders stood and talked for some time—Harris large, fair, bulky-looking and nervous, and Eaves tall, wiry, dark (almost black) and as calm and serene as the surface of a barrel of tar. He had swung one leg over the balcony, was supporting himself by a post and leisurely smoking and deliberately talking.

After some preliminary talk Harris began to sail into him with reference to his mode of procedure in calling the committee to meet. Eaves had done this without consulting Harris, the secretary, and this was just what Harris was feeling sore about.

As he wound up Harris began to accuse Eaves of running his collectorship in favor of Washington clothes and rings regardless of the consequences to his own people. Harris was pretty rash in some of these statements, but he did not disturb Eaves' serenity by his remarks. Finally Harris asked:

"Why did you call this meeting of the committee without notifying or consulting me, as secretary?"

"I did it in the exercise of my right and power as chairman."

Harris—"Did you mean to ignore me or show any discourtesy to me by the action?"

Eaves—"No."

Harris—"Well, if I thought you did, I would denounce it right here; and I just want to say that I would tell you plainly what I thought about it."

Harris was getting very nervous and excited here, but Eaves' serenity was undisturbed; and he took the cigar from his mouth and let the smoke curl up into the air with provoking nonchalance and calmness.

A few more words were passed and Harris was heard to make this emphatic remark—his eyes flashing and his muscles twitching:

"Well, I think it was a—rascally trick."

Eaves—(Not moving from his position.)—"You don't mean that."

Harris—"Yes I do mean it; and if you take that you are not worthy the name of a man."

Eaves was about to make some reply, but he didn't have time. Harris lifted his arm and down came his hand on Eaves' head with a thundering blow, knocking his hat half across the street and almost knocking Eaves over the balcony rail.

For a second Eaves was dazed with astonishment. Then he drew his leg over the balcony, straightened up, and his long slender arm with wiry dark claw like fingers at the end shot forward, and Harris' whole face was in the grasp of that claw. A second more and they clinched, and there was a reeling and rolling to and fro on the balcony. The faces of both men showed that they were deadly in earnest in the struggle. There's no knowing what "might have been"—but there was in reality no result; for the noise of the struggle attracted the attention of five or six men in Purnell's office and they rushed out and separated the combatants after a lively struggle. Harris was literally lifted from off the floor and carried into an insurance office, and Eaves was led into Purnell's office by other parties.

As Eaves walked into the office he was still smiling serenely. Some one asked him "what is the matter?" He said, "I don't know. Ask Harris."

Neither one of the parties were hurt. Eaves had received a big blow, and in return had scratched up Harris' face to some extent.

Deputy John Upchurch was on the scene and put them both under arrest, and some parties staid around the offices to prevent the two men from coming together again.

Eaves soon went down the street, and after he had gotten out of sight, the parties standing around Harris stopped aside, and he soon walked away.

A bearing was had before a magistrate and the matter settled. And the two belligerents went their way. We understand Chairman Eaves determined to return home without the anticipated meeting of the State Republican Executive Committee.

A SAD STORY.

A Man Lost at Sea Near Cape Hatteras a Year and a Half Ago and Evidence Just Found.

[Editorial Correspondence.]

MOREHEAD, N. C., July 29.—There is much melancholy interest here over the finding of a note in a bottle which tells a sad tale of death from cold and starvation. The note was written on a small sheet of paper torn from a memorandum book and is very difficult to read, but this morning with the assistance of half a dozen editors I managed to make it all out except one or two lines. It is as follows:

On Schooner Viola—South West of Cape Hatteras. (Here follows two lines which I cannot read.) I am almost dead with starvation—2 out of the 35 are left to starve unless—(cannot make it out) by morning we shall all freeze to death.

Loaded with lumber from St. John's river, Florida, bound to Portland. We Ben out 71 days. Writer is a man who does not fear death from the consequences of the hereafter. Having been raised by a Christian mother, who out of the entire family only survives.

The finder of this will please forward to her at Charleston, S. C., Mrs. D. E. Evans, 671 Eutaw Square. Our foremast and mainmast were carried off three weeks ago, and all the fresh water lost.

D. A. EVANS.

This letter will be forwarded to the Charleston News and Courier, with the request that it be delivered to the mother of the unfortunate man.

CHOWAN IS FOR VANCE.

Confidence in His Ability—His Courage—And His Fidelity to the Best Interests of the State.

[Special Col. of STATE CHRONICLE.]

EDENTON, N. C., July 28.—Inclosed is a resolution endorsing Senator Vance passed to-day by our county convention. The resolutions were introduced by a prominent Alliance man and adopted unanimously by the convention, nine tenths of whom were farmers and a majority Alliance men.

Resolved, That the Democrats of Chowan county have watched with pleasure and pride the course of Hon. Z. B. Vance in the Senate of the United States. That they have the fullest confidence in his fidelity to the best interests of the people. That his persistent, consistent and able fight against monopoly, trusts, and all other powers which would oppress the people inspires them with confidence and marks him out as fit above all others to fill the high office he now occupies.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Chicago Thinks the New York Paper Misrepresents Them.

[By United Press.]

CHICAGO, Ill., July 29.—The Herald this morning says: The attitude of the average New York newspaper on the subject of the Worlds Fair in Chicago is offensive to the last degree. Its correspondents are evidently under instructions to misrepresent Chicago and its people, and they lose no opportunity to circulate falsehoods that are calculated to give the country the idea that this city is unfitted in all respects for the fair and that its people are destitute of the commonest qualification for the successful management of such an exhibition. The contemptible meanness of this position cannot be ascribed to persiflage. It has a deeper foundation and a graver significance. No friend of Chicago and no true American should be deceived or influenced by such manifest misrepresentation.

REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL CAUSUS.

Supreme Indifference Regarding the Force Bill—It Will Probably Die the Death of Inattention.

[By United Press.]

NEW YORK, July 29.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says: "Senator Hoar wept tears of humiliation last night. He pleaded in vain for the immediate consideration of the force bill, and used all his power of argument and pathos to bring his colleagues in the Republican senatorial caucus to his way of thinking.

The caucus was held to determine the order of business, and it was finally decided that the tariff and the appropriation bills shall have the right of way. There was only about twenty-five of the forty-seven Senators present, and some of the strongest opponents of the Federal election bill were absent. Their presence was not needed to show a supreme indifference among most of the Republicans to Mr. Lodge's reformer pet, and their disposition to let it die the death of inattention.

Catawba is for Vance, Merrimon and Clark.

NEWTON, N. C., July 29.—Catawba county convention to-day instructed for Vance, Merrimon and Clark, and A. M. Lewis for the legislature.

THE SIXTH DISTRICT.

Capt. S. B. Alexander Nominated by Acclamation—A Protest Against the Lodge Election Bill—Vance Endorsed.

The Sixth district Congressional convention met at Laurinburg yesterday and was called to order by Hon. J. H. Lockhart, of Wadesboro, who was made permanent chairman with Mr. J. D. Bundy, of Laurinburg, and the representatives of the Democratic press secretaries.

A more harmonious convention was never held, and it went to work at once by Mr. Chas. McDonald placing before the body to represent the Sixth district in the Congress of the United States the name of Capt. S. B. Alexander of Mecklenburg. There being no opposition his nomination was unanimous by acclamation.

The following resolution was adopted: RESOLVED, That we, the 413 delegates to the Democratic Congressional Convention of the Sixth Congressional district, in convention assembled, do hereby enter our solemn protest against the Lodge election bill now before the United States Senate, firmly believing that it is a direct menace to our popular institutions, and if passed would add fresh fuel to the fires of sectional animosity, sow the seeds of riot and bloodshed, demoralize and paralyze society in all its channels.

We ask to be heard; if not as Southerners and American citizens, then as members of the Anglo-Saxon race.

Committee to notify Alexander as his nomination:

CAPT. C. McDONALD, Cabarrus.

J. H. HENDERSON, Mecklenburg.

J. A. MARSH, Union.

Vance Endorsed.

The convention in expression of their endorsement of Senator Vance adopts the following:

RESOLVED, That we, the delegates of the 6th Congressional District, desire to place on record, our unbounded confidence in the integrity and patriotism of Zebulon B. Vance, our Junior Senator, and our esteem and pride, with which we view his struggle in the U. S. Senate against the enactment of laws unjust and oppressive to the toiling masses.

The following Congressional executive committee was elected:

Dr. J. S. McRae, Anson; S. K. Stanley, Brunswick; Chas. McDonald, Cabarrus; Dr. J. E. Barrell, Columbus; Jerome Doub, Mecklenburg; John J. Funder, New Hanover; W. H. Neal, Richmond; J. H. Morrison, Robeson; J. P. Nash, Stanley; H. B. Adams, Union.

This convention was as fine a set of representative men of the solid democracy of the Sixth district as was ever gathered together, and when they pledged its undivided support to its nominee, it figures its election.
